

Noel Sargent To Criticize Wagner Act At Seminar

Business Views
To Be Aired
Here Thursday

Business criticism of the Wagner Act will be aired here Thursday afternoon by the secretary of the National Association of Manufacturers, Noel Sargent, when he addresses a seminar group in the Marshall-Wythe School of Government and Citizenship at the College of William and Mary. Members of the faculty and visitors interested in the topic, as well as students, are invited to attend the seminar, whose general theme is social, economic and political trends.

Sargent, who has been an official of the N. A. M. more than twenty years, will have as his subject "Why and How the Wagner Act Should Be Amended." He is considered well fitted to express the attitude of America's largest manufacturers' association toward the Wagner Act and the National Labor Relations Board, now vividly before the public due to Congressional hearings. The meeting will be held in Washington Hall at the college from 4 to 5:30.

The Marshall-Wythe seminar course, instituted last year, brings to the William and Mary campus at bi-weekly intervals in the second semester men prominent in the administration of public activities. Among those heard last session were J. Warren Madden, chairman of the N. L. R. B.; Rexford Guy Tugwell, chairman of the New York City Planning Commission, and Elmer F. Andrews, then national administrator of the Wages and Hours Law.

Thursday's meeting will be presided over by Wayne F. Gibbs, professor of economics.

College Marks Charter Day; 3-Ring Circus

Ringmaster Cox whipped up the annual charter day exercises with the usual be-gowned academic procession and Cutler lecture, orated this year by Charles Warren, Attorney-General under Wilson, who pondered on the Supreme Court, copiously quoting cases through a lunch hour, happily cutting off the first afternoon class.

As the third ring of the College's three ring circus on Charter Day, comprising the regular Charter Day exercises and the Cutler lecture, members of the Page family of Virginia were invited to a luncheon in the Great Hall of the Sir Christopher Wren building.

The occasion marked the 250th anniversary of the meeting which their ancestor Col. John Page, called in 1690 to launch the College of William & Mary. Sixteen original Page portraits owned by the College were displayed to the visitors in President Bryan's house. Before lunch the visitors went to Bruton churchyard to lay a wreath on Colonel Page's grave.

Among approximately 100 descendants of John Page and their husbands and wives were Professor T. J. Stubbs and two students, Page Walker and Lucy Carter Dority.

Arrangements for the affair were in charge of an informal committee under the chairmanship of Dean T. S. Cox and including Charles J. Duke, bursar; Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts, assistant dean of women; Edwin C. Rust, head of the Fine Arts Department; Y. O. Kent, steward; R. H. Land, research assistant; and Thomas Pinckney, director of public relations.

Play in the Incubator

Players Whip "Our Town" Into Shape at Rehearsals

If anyone were to drop in at the Wren Basement, where all the plays put on at William and Mary are first rehearsed, he would see the student players hard at work whipping the forthcoming play Our Town, into shape.

The rehearsals are very informal, a subdued buzz of conversation permeates the low-ceilinged room, silenced only occasionally by an impatient frown by Miss Althea Hunt the director. A smoky haze usually hangs in the air and the various players, draped over the uncomfortable Wren period furniture, consume gallons of coke and furtively, with a look toward Miss Hunt—drop butts to the floor as they read over their cues or study for exams or glance over a copy of STAGE or THEATRE ARTS.

Usually players in these rehearsals in the Wren, basement have to pretend that they are using the props and set that they will actually use on the stage in the final performance in Phi Beta. This time, however, most of the pantomime will be in earnest and retained permanently, for "Our Town" is unique in that no props or set are used.

The play is run through from start to finish, but not always in regular order, for sometimes the second act needs some polishing and it is started first, with the third act following or perhaps a special scene with a couple of people needs some extra work and it

Youths Meet At Richmond Elect Muecke

Showing that youth problems are not necessarily dull, 200 enthusiastic participants in the Second Virginia Youth Conference, held a lively and interesting session at the Grace and Holy Trinity Church in Richmond this past week-end.

The delegates, representing some 43 Virginia youth organizations, elected Carl Muecke of William and Mary as Chairman of the Conference for the coming year to succeed the popular Miss Jimmie Woodward of Randolph-Macon Women's College.

Five delegates represented William and Mary and voted it one of the most informative sessions they had ever attended. They listened to State Comptroller LeRoy Hodges deliver an address on the problems of the youth of Virginia, and heard greetings read from Mrs. Roosevelt and Governor Price of Virginia.

A lively debate ensued at one point after addresses were delivered by State Assemblymen Meadows and Neff. The delegates argued over the question of poll taxes and also over education with respect to the Negro. The sessions were made complete by six round-table discussions on youth and: Citizenship, farm, religion, health, industry, and education which were led by state authorities on the subject.

The Conference ended Sunday with Church Services led by ministers of two different denominations and a rabbi, and singing by the choir and the audience. Delegates left the conference with many new friends all over the state and with many new provocative ideas, and vowed they would work toward making next year's conference a bigger and better one.

Bob Sylvester Signed to Play For Mid-Winters

Bob Sylvester and his well known dance orchestra has been signed for the Mid-Winter Formals which will take place March 8 and 9 in Blow Gym.

Sylvester is well known over the Columbia Broadcasting System for his smooth-playing band which combines the styles of Paul Whiteman, Hal Kemp, and Isham Jones. He has had two Hollywood performances for musical shorts, and holds a five year contract for Brunswick - Vocalion recordings. Among other colleges, Bob has appeared at Proms of Fordham, N. Y. U., Virginia, Georgia Tech, and Princeton.

Featured on his program is Olga Vernon, the "Sophisticated Lady of Swing" and also the Lance Glee Club. This combination adds an ample entertainment program to the varied dance music.

Plans for the decoration of the Gym are now under way, and a completely new style which will add a maximum of effect and at the same time use little of the precious floor space.

Recordings of the orchestra have been ordered, and as soon as they arrive they will be played in the dining hall and also be brought around to the fraternity and sorority houses in order that all may become familiar with his music.

Plans for the dance are being made by the president's aides. Any suggestions concerning this dance or the regular Saturday night dances, will be appreciated if they are turned in to any of the aides who will see that these suggestions receive the complete attention of the committee.

String Quartet To Present 4th Concert

Frank Wendt
Is Leader Of Famous Group

The fourth in the series of Sunday afternoon concerts will be given in the Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium next Sunday, February 18, at 4:00 P. M. by the Richmond String Quartet under the leadership of Frank Wendt.

Mr. Wendt founded and organized this quartet. He is head of the division of strings in the Music Department of the Richmond Public Schools. He studied Harmony and Composition at the Combs' Conservatory and violin under the master Henry Schroedick. He was first violinist in the Richmond Symphony Orchestra during the years of its existence and is now concert master of the Richmond Philharmonic Orchestra.

The other members of the quartet are Winifred Woodson, second violin; Philip Galati, viola; and Paul Cartwright, cello. Miss Woodson has played in the North Carolina Symphony and has done outstanding work with various musical organizations throughout the South. At present, she is a pupil of Mr. Feldman of Norfolk. Mr. Galati was born in Italy. His musical education began at an early age, under his father. He has been a member of the New York Civic Symphony, the Russian Symphony and the Richmond Symphony. He is now a member of the Richmond Philharmonic Orchestra.

Mr. Cartwright was born in New York. He first studied in Rochester at the Eastman School of Music and later at the Institute of Musical Art, in New York City. He was a pupil of William Willeke. He was a member of the Richmond Symphony. He is now a member of the Richmond Philharmonic Orchestra and a teacher in the Music Department of the Richmond Public Schools.

The Richmond String Quartet has appeared regularly at the college for a number of years. Year before last it gave a series of three recitals illustrating the development of chamber music. All of these concerts have delighted the audiences which have heard them both because of the inherent beauty of the selections presented on the programs and because of the skillful and emotionally sympathetic rendition by the performers. The program for Sunday follows:

Economic Club Meets Tuesday In Brown Hall

The Thomas R. Dew Economics Club will meet in Brown Hall on Tuesday evening, February 13, at 7:00 P. M. The club members will consider later showings of motion pictures on such subjects as advertising, consumer's research, and other topics of economic nature.

Short, informal addresses by club members will be given on the prospects of a united labor front. Fred Worster will be chairman, and Jane Groggins, Bernie Russell, Gordon Dorrier, and Charles Roberts will speak on the various aspects of the question, "Why should labor unite." Informal discussions of the issues by the club as a whole will be followed by refreshments.

The business part of the meeting will consist of electing a new treasurer to replace Howard Anderson, who graduated.

NOTICE

The Photography Club will meet at 7:30 P. M., Wednesday, February 14, at Washington 202.

Due to a staff shake-up the Flat Hat is holding a special try-out Thursday at 7 P. M. in the Marshall-Wythe office, intended chiefly to recruit freshmen and sophomore writers and assistants.

Mortarboard To Preview Conference

Radio Program
On Vocational Guidance

This afternoon at 3:30 members of the Mortarboard Society presented a radio preview of the conference on vocational guidance that is being held today on the campus under the leadership of the Mortarboard and of the Williamsburg Chapter of the American Association of University Women. Both members of the latter association and women students of the college have been invited to attend a series of lectures and discussions on vocations for women, which will constitute a major part of the program.

The radio preview this afternoon took the form of an informal discussion between Jean Clarahan, president of the Mortarboard, Betty Moore and Miss Wanda Castle, Personnel Director of the Williamsburg Restoration. Miss Castle discussed the various occupations open to the American woman of today. Thomas M. Forsyth, Jr. announced the program, which was under the direction of Miss Althea Hunt.

Next week's program on February 20th, will be devoted entirely to music. Featured on the program will be selections by Maxine Hines at the piano, and vocal numbers by Miss Hines and Jean Stevenson.

Yesterday afternoon—Dr. Kemp Malone said, "Nonsense, it is very beautiful and good architecture. It is not a museum." He meant the Colonial City of Williamsburg, the town that Rockefeller built. Doctor Malone has little sympathy with belittlers, whether they are Frank Lloyd Wright or Granville Hicks, once Harvard's bad boy and the favorite "pink professor" of Mr. Hearst's red-baiting editors.

He told the Flat Hat interviewer that those who ridicule traditions, great traditions, of either literature or architecture, are often only people who in their ignorance are expressing a contempt for their betters.

Doctor Malone likes co-education, but regrets that it drives so many men from the cultural subjects into the sciences. If the men English majors were counted at William and Mary, this Baltimore gentleman's paradox that "the men are running away from the women" could be appreciated.

These are a few random observations of a Johns Hopkins professor. Undergraduates are no different than the times in which they live. The earnest young social-conscious student of today, condemning Finnish relief is but

WM Delegates At Internat'l Relations Meet

Eight delegates from William and Mary attended the meeting of the Virginia Association of International Relations Clubs at Mary Washington College in Fredericksburg during the week-end of February 9-11. On Friday afternoon a tea and reception were given, followed by an address by Dr. Arnold W. G. Kean, an Englishman who is the American correspondent for the Danish Social-Democratic, which supports the party now in power in Denmark. Dr. Kean gave an illuminating comparison of the size and resources of the Scandinavian countries with the rest of the world, and explained the remarkable achievements of these nations in the breadth of their education, cooperation and social legislation. The type of education which differs most markedly from the American is the Folk High Schools, which are voluntarily attended by a large proportion of the adults. This high level of education and intelligence has fostered cooperation without governmental aid and has produced the most complete system of social insurance in the world. Denmark has already signed a non-aggression pact with Germany and Norway is well-protected by natural barriers, but Sweden is quaking in her boots, for only the Mannerheim line stands between Leningrad and Stockholm.

Saturday was devoted to round table discussions. "Mal-Distribution of Resources and Wealth" was led by Joe Berman of William and Mary. Representatives from the University of Virginia, Mary Baldwin, and Bridgewater conducted the other topics on subjects of world interest.

After a banquet at the Southern Grill, the group heard the Czechoslovakian Minister to the United States.

Revue Rounding Into Shape

Working in conjunction with the Backdrop Club, the Flat Hat has selected by student balloting ten co-eds for participation in the Club's forthcoming Varsity Show. Three hundred eighty ballots were cast in the three-day voting period which ended last Friday.

Each of the ballots, which were printed in the Flat Hat, listed ten girls from the 25 chosen the week before in a nomination vote, also by the students. The winners—Ruth Barton, Hope Bitting, Jane Brandt, Virginia Claudon, Virginia Gould, Mary Ellen Lokey, June Lucas, Betty Moore, Ruth Rapp, and Gervais Wallace—will be used in the "Parade of Beauty" and another skit in the revue, which is scheduled for production March 14-15 in Phi Beta Kappa Hall and tentatively in the Lyric Theatre in Richmond on March 21.

The show itself is moving along rapidly. Director Tom Forsyth and his assistants have outlined and cast the 30 skits to be used; business manager Tim Hanson, who is also President of the Backdrop Club, is lining up the advertising and laying out the playbill; musical director Harold Lazarus has collected and arranged 20 songs, ranging from the Waltz to the Jitterbug, most of which are his own compositions; technical director Jim Talley with the help of Henry Kibel and Mike Stoussland has drafted the sets, complete with lighting; and costume director Lelia Anne Munce has designed most of the wardrobe.

Inasmuch as the show is a revue it is possible to rehearse the various skits independently, leaving the coordination process until the stage is cleared of the College production of "Our Town."

Sigma Pi Sigma To Have Open House Feb. 16

Sigma Pi Sigma, honorary physics fraternity, will hold an open house on February 16 from 7:00 to 10:00 P. M. Various apparatus will be on exhibit and demonstrations of interest will be made at this time.

The society has been exceptionally honored in being able to have present Mr. H. N. Edmondston from Fort Eustis who will demonstrate a Tesla coil with which he can generate a million volts at about a million cycles. This voltage is completely harmless, and Mr. Edmondston will perform several experiments with the coil.

Dr. J. M. Stetson of the college, who is a well known local authority on color photography, will also be present. Dr. Stetson will show color slides taken in Williamsburg and vicinity and will lecture on the technique of color photography.

The society will have a large number of additional exhibits which have been selected so that they will be of general interest. Each of these will be described and explained. An especial effort has been made to present a program which will be interesting to everyone and not merely to students of physics.

Dr. Harold L. Fowler will be the speaker at the meeting of the Episcopal students to be held Sunday afternoon in the Parish House at six o'clock.

Travel Club Meets

The Foreign Travel Club held Canadian Night on February 8th at seven o'clock in Brown Hall. Dr. Laing of the government department was the chief speaker of the evening. Dr. Laing gave a resume of the universities of Canada, explaining that each province but that of Prince Edward Island has at least one university. He told of the rapid progress of his own school, the University of British Columbia, since its beginning twenty-five years ago. The next meeting of the club will be held on February 22, probably in Barrett Hall. Miss Doris Ryan will speak and Dr. Carter of the French department will show slides on France.

NOTICE

There will be a meeting of the Clayton-Grimes Club Wednesday at 7:00 P. M. in Washington 11. All freshmen are welcome.

Int. Relations . . .

States, V. S. Hurban, speak upon "War As a Social Evil." He denied that war was a necessity for any nation's progress or development and condemned all aggressive war as imperialistic. "The aggressive war in our times," he said, "is a consequence of a wrong internal system which is bound to collapse. The social disturbances, especially after a lost war, are not the consequences of the war itself, but a logical result of the prewar status."

The conference closed on Sunday morning with an address by Dr. Edward N. Calish of Richmond on "The Essentials of a Permanent Peace."

Our Town . . .

(Continued from page one) is put on next. It is remarkable that out of all this seeming chaos, order results, for sometimes the players have classes which conflict with rehearsals or one of them has a relative in town or a boy friend and simply must leave, and occasionally players wander off in the grip of spring fever and a great deal of shouting and recalling goes on with good-natured kidding when the red-faced truant shows up. At any rate the rehearsals are going forward and the students are putting in a lot of hard work down there in the Wren basement.

Fork Union Team Upsets Frosh 22-20

Unable to make their shots at the opportune moments the William and Mary Frosh dropped a close 22-20 decision to Fork Union Military Academy here Monday.

The Papooses tied the score at 17 all early in the fourth quarter but they were unable to forge ahead to win. On a tip off from the center of the court Bukowski of F. U. snatched the ball and raced up the court to sink the basket which proved to be the margin of victory.

RICHMOND IS NEXT HOME GAME FOR INDIANS AFTER TRIP

THIS WEEK

By FRANK RAFLO

This is the story of the under dressed basketball team or why Taffee and Mackey were without uniforms or how the two new sweat suits were lost strayed or stolen. You see those shiny silver pants which the boys wear while they are warming up before the game are all part of basketball, not that they help get the ball in the basket—which as we have often said is the real object after all—but other colleges have them and so we got ours.

But to get back to the story. When the current season got under way ten of these brilliant moleskin coverings were ordered for the ten men who would be left on the squad. They were a little late in coming but finally the boys ran out on the court one night sparkling radiantly in their new suits.

COULD BE

Now we do not know if these new suits had anything to do with it but we do note that the Indians who have been batting about .500 pretty steadily but they have yet to lose a home game dressed up in their new suits.

In any event everybody was happy with his new clothes until one day last week, at which time it was suddenly called to the attention of the hierarchy of managers who take care of such things that what had once been ten sparkling silver suits was now only eight equally sparkling suits. Now we all know that even suits as brilliant as these cannot just get up out of the dressing room and hide themselves away in some corner, nor can we see very well how they could have fallen by the way on their daily trip from the first floor of the gym up to the second.

Finally one doesn't have to be an Aristotle to conclude that since the suits were there and are not there any more and since we have found that they do not have the powers of motivation within themselves, somebody must have moved them.

AS CONFUCIUS MIGHT SAY

That is simple isn't it? but the next point is where we all are stumped. If somebody moved them he must have had a motive outside of the fact that he did not like to see such pretty suits stay down there in that dirty room. On the other hand we find it hard to imagine that anyone took the things as a mere theft, because such a thing would not only be abreach of the honor system, but also crooks generally have more sense of value than to steal something which they can neither sell nor wear.

All of which does not bring us one step nearer a solution. The possibility that somehow, somehow the suits may have been "mis-laid" is possible and there is a final suggestion that they were taken by someone in an off moment as a practical joke and the guy is now too scared to bring them back.

We don't know what has happened to them nor does anybody else at the time this is being written. If they do turn up in the next two days, this story will be of little value but we should be more than willing to concede that to see the team fully equipped once more.

All those boys and girls who like to shout about spirit and "why don't you win" have a chance to do something on their own for once. Let's see them turn up those suits.

Gridmen Move Outside

The Spring football practices concluded two weeks of daily workouts Saturday afternoon on a rain-soaked field. Three teams ran through a short signal drill to conclude an afternoon of hard work.

In spite of the fact that it is Spring and there are only a couple of practice games in view the Coach has put his men through a very stiff two weeks of practice. The squad is in excellent condition and all the men are ready for the scrimmage with other college teams.

As yet the men who were excused for basketball have not come out to practice but next week should find the squad at its full strength. Then the Coach will be able to tell more conclusively what to expect in the Fall season. It is still too early to make any predictions along that line, however.

Frosh and Reserves Lose Twin Bill

The freshman and reserves played St. Catherine's and the Richmond division respectively Wednesday afternoon, February 7, at St. Catherine's.

Women Start Basketball

Intramural basketball is scheduled to begin February 19, and the organizations are now holding practices in Jefferson Gym. Representatives are requested to sign up for the use of the gym as soon as possible.

A list of those ineligible for intramural basketball has been posted on the Jefferson bulletin board. Those girls whose physical conditions have not been certified by a doctor within the past school year, will not be allowed to participate until such an examination has been made.

The freshman got off to a slow start giving St. Catherine's the edge in the first half. Throughout the game the passes were slow and inaccurate, a point which the freshman need to watch.

A rally was made late in the third quarter by St. Catherine's was too far ahead. The game ended with a score of 25-11 in favor of St. Catherine's.

The Reserve-Richmond division game was Richmond's game all the way through. The William and Mary girls were handicapped by not having a full team of regulars and also by the height of the division players. The reserve forwards found it hard to break the defense. The Richmond forwards made most of their baskets through pot shots winning by a score of 37-17.

The reserves are scheduled for a return game here Thursday, February 15.

Frosh List 3 More Games On Schedule

The freshman squad has three more games listed for the season. Thus far they have been able to get by all their games without a single loss and they stand a good chance of ending up the season undefeated.

The games are listed with Fork Union on Monday here. Then, on Wednesday the Baby Spiders will invade the Papoose's home grounds for a game that promises to be a thriller. On Friday the Braves of the Norfolk division come up to do battle in a revenge match that should be a good game.

The squad has been working out every afternoon under the eagle eye of Coach McCray. He has whipped the ten individuals into a group that is beginning to function like a team. The starting five rarely are in the game more than ten minutes which is an indication of the ability of the whole squad.

No matter what the outcome of the three games this week the Freshman basketball will have been a success. They have been taught the fundamentals of good college basketball and will be ready to answer the call next year when the basketball season rolls around once again.

Ping Pong, Bowling Begin

The intramural program for the second semester started yesterday with the first few games in the handball and ping pong tournaments being played in Blow Gymnasium. 107 men signed up for the ping pong tournament with Phi Kapp Tau having 31 entries leading the other fraternities.

The games are to be played every afternoon from 3:00-5:30 and, after basketball season, at night from 7:00-9:30. The draw is posted in the gym and all those who have not played their first round game three days after the start of the tournament will be eliminated.

HANDBALL UNDERWAY

The other sport now under way handball, has 32 entries, Phi Alpha with 12 entries, leads the other organizations entering men. Games in the elimination contest are being played every afternoon from 2:00-5:30. The first four rounds are to have two out of three games; the final round will be three out of five. The draw is posted in the handball room and (Continued on page six)

Jefferson Wins Dorm Bowling; E. Barrett 2nd

With the final matches held Monday, February 12, the women's intramural bowling tournament has been completed. Total scores at press time were available only for the dormitory league, this having been won by Jefferson Hall for the second consecutive year, with a final score of 2184. East Barrett with 2055 came in second place with Brown a close rival at 2039. In fourth, fifth, and sixth places respectively were Chandler, 2023; the Burghers, 1969; and West Barrett, 1710.

Highest scorer for the dormitories was Mary Moncreux with a total score of 2055. (Continued on page five)

T. Andrews Leads in Shot Average of Regular Five

Tom Andrews leads the regular five in percentage of shots made and in amount of points scored in the four home games played to date. In building up this record he has made 16 baskets in 48 shots for a percentage of .333 and has scored a total of 43 points in four games.

Morgan Mackey has the runner-up position in the percentages with 15 baskets out of 53 shots. He is third in the total scored column with 36 points.

Virgil Andrews has third position in the percentage division with a total of 19 baskets out of 71 shots. His total score is 41 points.

Taffee and Gondak are away behind these three in the figures with percentages of .174 and .133 respectively.

Sid Brooks has the phenomenal average of 1,000, having made three baskets in three tries. However, he has not played enough to warrant a true rating. Art Carol is in the same boat as Brooks. He has gotten a sensational average of .444 by making 4 baskets in 9 tries, but he has worked chiefly as a defense man and not taken an equal number of shots.

The team average is not a bad one—.264. The total points scored in four home games is 164, or a score of 41 points a game. The figures are listed below.

Fencers Meet N. C. Here, Thursday

Meet Should Be The Best in The South This Season

Two of the strongest fencing teams in the south will meet at Williamsburg this Thursday when William and Mary takes on the University of North Carolina. Later in the week on Saturday the Indian foils men will engage the University of Richmond.

The meet on Thursday will be the first real encounter for both schools as the Tarheels have wins over the Charleston fencing club and the University of Virginia and the Indians hold a 19 to 8 victory over the Cavaliers which was run up here last Saturday.

The Carolina team on the other hand defeated the Orange and Blue by a 16-11 score.

LARGE SQUAD

The Tarheels have a large squad led by Capt. Bloom which is built around many men who have returned from last year's team and who make the squad a really potent one.

The real clash should come in the foil and epee divisions where the greatest strength of both squads lies. The William and Mary team of Kibel, Makler and Glassman showed its ability against the Cavaliers when they won 16 out of 18 bouts in these two divisions to rout completely the Virginia men.

As evidenced by their 6-3 loss against Virginia the Indian team is suffering chiefly from a lack of sabre men. Many of the men from the other divisions have switched to sabre for the first time and it will probably take a little time before they will round into form.

RICHMOND SATURDAY

If the Indians win over the Tarheels they should have little trouble continuing on undefeated at least until they go on the road for their northern trip in spite of the opposition which the determined Spiders might bring down.

The Spiders have always had able foils men but hardly ever offered serious competition to the varsity.

Track Men Get Ready for S. C. Meet

A picked squad of varsity and freshman track men headed by Coach Scrapy Chandler will journey to Chapel Hill to compete in the annual Southern Conference track meet, to be held on the 24th of this month.

The squad has been working out daily on the board track adjacent to the William and Mary Stadium since the latter part of January in an effort to get into condition for their only indoor meet of the year.

Preliminary conditioning practice sessions have given way to developing of the stride and time trials with both squads exhibiting enough strength to forecast a good showing in the forthcoming meet.

Tentative entries in the various events have been made by Chandler with final trials still to determine just what members of the squad will make the Carolina trip. The varsity squad will probably be represented by Harry Glick and Claude Kelly in the 60 yard dash; Captain Bob Rawls in the pole vault; Howard Cason in the

Meet W&L, V.P.I. and V.M.I. on 3 Consecutive Days, Then Face Spiders

Have Final Chance To Come Through Against Big Six Conference Opponents

William and Mary's basketball five have reached the most difficult part of their twenty-one game schedule playing their seven remaining games in fourteen days against such top notch teams as Washington and Lee, Richmond, V. P. I. and Navy.

Possibilities of the Indians qualifying for the Southern Conference tournament depend entirely on what they do in competition with other conference teams, and they will meet their first test Thursday night when they take the floor with W and L at Lexington.

This is the first of a home and home series with the Generals who are undefeated in state competition and should the Indians be victorious in both contests they should easily qualify for the tournament.

Washington and Lee will be slight favorites over Coach Dwight Steussey's five due to their unblemished record, but observers point to the fact that W and L just managed to beat a University of Virginia team last Saturday by the score of 33 to 30, the losers being without their most potent offensive weapon, Bill Harman, the state's high scorer with 208 points.

PINCK TO LEAD

The Lexington juggernaut is led by Dick Pinck who is also high in the state scoring race and who totaled eight points against the Cavaliers before he was put out of the game on fouls. The fiery forward may be accorded All-State honors at the season's close so outstanding has been his play.

Aiding Pinck will be Rannie Thompson, Bobby Gary, center Howard Dobbins, and Leo Reinhartz. The return game will be played here on February 21.

Game Is Real Thriller With Lead Changing On Every Shot

In one of the most thrilling games ever to be witnessed in state court circles the William and Mary basketball team avenged a previous defeat at the hands of the University of Virginia by scoring a 29 to 28 upset over the favored Cavaliers before a capacity crowd in Blow Gym, Wednesday night, as Vince Taffee and Captain Morgan Mackey shared playing honors for the evening.

Taffee, still recovering from a broken wrist, performed an outstanding piece of defensive play by holding the state's leading scorer, Bill Harman, to a lone field goal while he was on the floor although Harman topped the visitors scoring by netting nine points.

Mackey paced the Indian scoring attack by caging six points through set shots, often scoring when the Cavaliers had forged ahead or while they were threatening to do so. Virgil Andrews was runner up in the scoring honors for the Braves making ten points. Mackey held Armand Feldman, diminutive Orange and Black forward who had scored 23 points against the University of

Friday evening the Indians will tackle V. P. I. at Blacksburg in an effort to make it two straight the Braves winning here on February 8.

The Gobblers can't be considered a setup for the Indians for they have the power and ability, yet lack a scoring punch when under pressure. They have thrown a scare into each of the teams that defeated them, and promise to offer competition to the visiting Braves.

Back to Lexington on Saturday night—this time the Steussey men will face a Poor V. M. I. squad which has yet to score their first conference win. Two football stars, Paul Shu and Bosh Pritchard, head the Flying Cadets' impotent attack, but the Indians may be tired after their efforts in the V. P. I. game and combined with the long ride to Lexington, a close game is forecast with William and Mary ruling favorites.

RICHMOND MONDAY

Next Monday night Blow Gym should again be packed with spectators when the high riding University of Richmond team led by Captain Stuart Hoskins and lanky Bill Burge will seek to win their second straight over W and M.

At Richmond on January 10, the Spiders eked out a 35-33 win in the first game of the series, and although they will meet on the Indian's home court the Spiders record of a clean slate in the state will put them as favorites to win.

The William and Mary five are determined to win this battle, however, and the two combinations should serve the week's best basketball dish in Virginia.

Tigers Minus Weed Lose Dull Contest

Indians' Shooting Improves; Subs Win Plenty of Action

Minus the services of their high scorer, Syd Weed, the Hampden-Sydney Tigers were on the short end of a 42 to 31 score as Tom and Virgil Andrews led the William and Mary basketballers to their second victory in a week.

Weed was unable to accompany the team due to a badly sprained ankle sustained in last week's Richmond game and without his punch Virgil and Tom Andrews, rolling up 12 and 11 points respectively, aided by their teammates came back after a slow first half to enable W&M to win handily.

Coach Dwight Steussey used almost every member of his squad in the victory with the performances of Captain Morgan Mackey, Charley Gondak, Vince Taffee and Art Carol a major factor in the win.

Five minutes of the first period elapsed before the Tigers were able to score when Murdock, Maroon and Grey offensive star with eleven counters, sank a long shot.

ing to almost mid-court shooting to tally their fifteen point total by half time. Bespectacled Captain Berry, Murdock, and Dillard paced the visitors throughout that period and for the duration of the game.

Holding a 20 to 15 advantage at half time a high powered Indian outfit quickly stretched the lead to 39 to 27 at which time Steussey started to substitute frequently. Despite desperate attempts by the Tigers to pull up even with the replacements, the work of Waldo Matthews, Jim Hickey, Al Choiko, Sid Brooks, and Carol held the comfortable Indian lead until the game's end.

North Carolina, to but six counts.

Continuing their practice of a second half comeback the Indians, holding a 14 to 12 lead at the intermission, began to play steadier ball that enabled them to match the determined play of the Virginians after a first period that was thrill-packed, but showed no high-calibre basketball due to both teams' poor ball handling.

It was the first defeat in the state this season for the Cavaliers and credit must go to Steussey and his team that outplayed the vaunted Cavaliers to recompense for the stinging 49 to 31 defeat handed them at Charlottesville on January 12.

The contest was somewhat marred by the total of 28 personal fouls that were called against the two teams by officials Postove and Eller, but yet the margin of victory may well be credited to the Indian's ability to sink the free throws as they made eleven to the visitor's six.

With one minute to play Keywan, Virginia substitute guard, was given a free throw that if converted would tie the score. However, the ball rolled off the rim and the Indians were able to keep the ball in their possession for the remainder of the game.

Coach Steussey was delighted with the team's play and stated after the team had showered and dressed, "We simply scrapped them out of it by performing the best defensive game we have done all year." Against such a good team it was their fight and defense that pulled them through."

Visitors from all over the state attended the contest, including John Oliver and Chauncey Darden, Sports Editors of the two Richmond papers, who sat at the press table. Both of them marvelled at Taffee's and Mackey's performances; giving William and Mary credit as the better team.

tal for one game of 104. Eleanor Schreiber of Chandler made second individual honors with 99. Peg Averill, Jefferson, and Phyllis Reid, Brown, both handed in scores of 95.

Among the sororities the first two days of bowling put Chi Omega and Kappa Kappa Gamma in a tie with 500 each, but several of the other teams had almost equalled that score. Bowling is finding increasing favor among women, and the quality of the playing continually improves, as may be seen in a comparison of 1939 and 1940 tournament scores.

FROSH STRONG

The freshman appear to be unusually strong in some departments and should place high in the conference championships. Plans are tentatively set to enter Phillip Thomas and Bill Luger, former Thomas Jefferson (Richmond) stars, in the three quarter mile distance run; Carl Voyles, Jr. and Stuart Hurley, high jump; and a mile relay quartet of Luger, Wes Newhouse, last year's Roanoke star, Bill Harding and Bill Howard.

that a squad was going to swoop down on them any minute or month, and surprise them in their nefarious activities of sabotaging lollypop factories. Much to the immense surprise of the Committee the Nazi would have flown the coop when the heavy footed investigators closed in on them. Usually a breathless world would learn that so-and-so Nazi leader in America was cooling his heels on the rail of a steamer bound for Germany or if records were seized they would be filled tic-tac-toe marks, beer stains and lollypop premiums.

TRAGIO-COMIC

The Dies Committee really staged a magnificent comedy drama, which has, however, its serious undertones. There is nothing funny about the way Dies has hampered the activities of many progressive movements by labelling them "Red", which is what he did with the American Youth Congress, first calling it "red" then later when the damage was done, quietly exonerating it. There is also nothing funny about the role he played in politics when he helped scuttle the New Deal, and the way he helped swing many votes in vital elections by labeling the progressive candidates "communistic."

Who can sympathize with a man who allows his committee to be a vehicle for every crackpot who comes along, allowing the airing of unsubstantiated and unreliable views which make one want to open windows, or spray spray the room, anything to get the stench of degenerate and dishonest ideas out of the air.

INVESTIGATE CAUSES

All of these tactics have given Dies much unfavorable publicity and made him change his procedure somewhat, for eventually he bound to catch on even if his best friend wouldn't tell him. The last report of the Committee issued about a month ago was remarkably restrained, for Dies had to watch public opinion and he wanted a renewal of funds to continue the Committee which is an excellent vehicle for the furthering of his own political ambitions. Opinion around Washington is that Jerry Voorhis, the one liberal on the Committee, had a hand in the writing of the report and in opposition to Dies issued a different report than the one Dies had framed. No matter who had a hand in the report it must deceive no one. Pelley wasn't deceived, and therefore we say again it is good to see Pelley clear the air and let people know definitely what the character of the Dies Committee is. It is about time that an end was put to Dies' witch hunt, and an emphasis put upon eradicating the evils which breed fascism, "crackpotism" and all "isms" including 115 per cent Americanism. Americans should spend their money on a Committee to investigate slums, poverty, unemployment, war, etc.; and then all people like Dies, Pelley, et al would be "Gone With the Wind."

FLICKER FLASHES

By PHIL LICKER

If you like personable Tony Martin, his excellent voice, or his flashing white teeth, then Wednesday's movie portion will bring you thrills in great quantity as MUSIC IN MY HEART is unwound.

High point of the artistic appeal comes with Andre Kostelanetz and his famous music. The sexy attraction is lynx-eyed Rita Hayworth, who returns to her original art of dancing, as her physical beauty scintillates! Tony Martin has five swell songs, and does them up brown. Eric Blore and Alan Mowbray inject an element of relief here and there.

Another historical featurette—in technicolor gorgeous—is added to the bill. It is "Old Hickory", and of course, is the story of Andrew Jackson, the old Indian-cater.

Speaking of Indians—there will be a generous number of redmen turned loose on Thursday in Paramount's exciting outdoor thriller—GERONIMO.

As practically nobody knows, Geronimo—a marauding Apache chief, terrorized the Southwest for many years after the Civil War. Around the battles of this "most feared of all the Indians" the picture is made. Preston Foster, Ellen Drew, Andy Devine, Gene Lockhart, and dusky William Henry are the main cast names.

Eleanor Powell and Fred Astaire back in the great "Broadway Melody of 1940" playing Monday and Tuesday.

On Friday we have what practically amounts to a double feature. Top attraction is sassy Ann Southern as CONGO MAISIE; number two is Artie Shaw in—SYMPHONY OF SWING.

As a wise-cracking, trouble-shooting show gal, Ann 'Volatile' Southern invades the African jungles—and creates a tempest in the tropics. The dialogue is brittle, and the comedy situations sustain keen interest. Good, broad humor is the keynote, in which John Carroll gives a performance that heads him for the big leagues.

In addition to Artie Shaw's newest film musical (featuring "Deep Purple"—"Lady Be Good"—"Jeepers Creepers"), there is a sport subject of interest to the physical culture fans. This is called "Men of Muscle", and concerns Springfield College, physical-ed center.

A real treat in filmfare is THE FIGHTING 69th . . . which plays Saturday for it is indeed true to the tradition of the regiment whose history inspired the picture.

The gold plated cast boasts of such names as George Brent, Pat O'Brien, James Gagney, Jeffrey Lynn, Alan Hale, Frank McHugh, and Dennis Morgan. Action centers around O'Brien and Father Duffey and his part in the redemption of incorrigible James Gagney.

Sweep of the astounding battle scenes surpasses anything of comparable nature that has yet been filmed. The many moments of humor, and its heart-tugs will make you forget the absence of romance. Don't miss it, for here is one of the really fine films today.

One of the first bookings in the State BROADWAY MELODY OF 1940 comes to the local projection parlor on Monday and Tuesday. It brings the King and Queen of danceland co-starred for the first time—meaning Fred Astaire and Eleanor Powell.

As everyone knows, when a "Broadway Melody" is bad, it's very, very bad. Likewise, when it is good it is terrific! This BROADWAY MELODY OF 1940 is the best of the very, very good ones, and so much better than the previous best that it comes under the tape alone.

First reason for this is the presence of three superlative dancers—Astaire, Powell, plus George Murphy. Second reason is the Cole Porter musical score, which for this type of picture there is none better. And it thrives thirdly on the efforts of giddy Frank Morgan, Florence Rice, Ian Hunter, and slinky Lynne Carver. (the gals with "those" eyes.)

Some months ago it was rumored around that musicals were all through. The producers of BROADWAY MELODY OF 1940 have made that rumor false by merely making a grand musical comedy which tries to be nothing else but just that!

SOON TO PLAY LIST: Carol Lombard and Brian Ahearn in VIGIL IN THE NIGHT . . . Spenser Tracy and breath-taking Hedy Lamarr in I TAKE THIS WOMAN . . . Alice Faye, Richard Greene, Fred MacMurray in LITTLE OLD NEW YORK . . . John Steinbeck's controversial book OF MICE AND MEN . . . Ronald Coleman and Walter Huston in THE LIGHT THAT FAILED . . . film version of that famous story SWISS FAMILY ROBINSON . . . to say nothing of G. W. T. W. that epic of all epics!

His Lordship . . .

from here. She's got enough guys on the string for a ball club, but it's definitely class B.

AGAIN—Peg Gildner is a "married" woman, sporting that same old Theta Delta pin. Why don't she and Dill end it all and get married.

We noticed Buddy Strange and Cookie Cook at the Hampden-Sydney game hitting it off like true brother and sister.

Also Jean Clarahan was seen with that handsome Restoration architect, Joe Thomas.

Phyllis Cady was seen wearing a frat pin at W. and

L. last week end but we are glad to see that she is clever enough not to wear it down here.

Who is this Alpha Chi that Jumbo Berry was supposed to have a date with Saturday night?

Cutest Couple of the Week—Bamby Kendall and Tommy Cartwright with Clarence Gorgan in the background.

Most in Love of the Week—Jean Geiselman and Bob Robbins.

Is it true that "Tiger" Gordon and Libby Kostenbater have had a parting of the ways? From all appearances Libby will not have to wait by the phone.

What will the SAE's and Pi K A's do next week-end when Jane Craig goes to Virginia?

In conclusion, we may say in reference to Valentine's Day we think it should be simply dandy if we substituted cards for candy. Besides, we're broke!

Men's Intramurals . . .

last week when they defeated North Carolina State in a close one 38-37. They present a real threat however in such a man as Stengle who manages to run up his 2:24 and .57 in the 220 and 100 respectively as well as hanging on to the position of anchor man on the relay team.

HARDAWAY IN THE DASH

The Indians should have a slight advantage in the dash despite the evident speed of Captain Hardaway of the Keydets since he has been used to swimming the fifty and the extra turn in the sixty here might make a difference.

In the breast stroke, the back stroke, 440 and the dive, the events appear to be a toss up with whatever edge there might be going to the rapidly improving Indians.

RECORD BREAKS

The Washington and Lee Generals had some consolation at least in spite of their loss when Ferber came through with a fast 29.8 in the 60 yard dash to defeat W. & M.'s Merritt and break the old pool record.

The meet was a close one all the way through with the Generals having a chance to come on to win even in the last event, the relay. The Indian swimmers, especially Roy Merritt, piled up an early lead in this event, but the flying Farber swimming as anchor man for the Generals all but closed the gap and won the meet for his team.

FROSH LOSE

Swimming the first meet of their season the William and Mary Frosh were just nosed out by the Norfolk division 34-32. The Yearling swimmers showed some promising men who should come along as the season progresses and give the team a chance to avenge the defeat when they meet the Division again later in the season.
